

Inter American Development Bank - MIF A learning guide on productive integration and territorial economic development

The main objective of this IDB-MIF guide is to provide expertise, tools and skills necessary to accompany the local stakeholders in planning, implementation, evaluation and monitoring of territorial economic development strategies.

The Learning Guide wants to contribute in this way, to the systematization and dissemination of knowledge accumulated in the execution of productive integration projects (small business networks, supply chains and clusters) implemented in recent years in Latin America and the Caribbean in collaboration with the International Labour Organization (ILO) and United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO).

The Guide in the Chapter 8 Programs and local economic development strategies, valorize the Local Economic Development Agencies, as "protagonists of new ways of doing politics in the productive development of different territories."

The full text of the Guide is available in Spanish, in the following link:

Guide on productive integration and territorial economic development