State of the Art Review on Local Economic Development Agencies

The paper illustrates the approach and methodology that different international organizations have been using for promoting local or territorial development agencies: OECD, EURADA (Association of European Development Agencies), World Bank, ILO, IDB (Interamerican Development Bank) and ILSLEDA.

The document summarizes the thoughts and experiences of each of these organisms, providing rather comprehensive framework on the state of the art regarding LEDAs, their practices, their role, objectives, functions, organization, and services.
