

Equality and Human Development Policy

New book and presentation lectures by Jairo Morales-Nieto

Jairo Morales Nieto presents his new book Equality and Human Development Policy. It shows the foundations of the new development paradigm and directs his reflections and analysis to the outline of a genuine human development policy and its implementation in practice, placing full employment as the first step towards distributive economic equality and economic growth.

The comprehensive presentation of the author's work is offered through a series of eight lectures (virtual and/or face-to-face) described below, plus a Grand Synopsis:

- Theme 1 Distributive Inequality: What Do We Know?
- Theme 2 Shift of Development Paradigm?
- Theme 3 Economic Theories and Paradigms in Transition
- Theme 4 The Dominant Neoliberal Paradigm
- Theme 5 Birth of a New Development Paradigm
- Theme 6 Reinventing the Human Development Paradigm
- Theme 7 How to Build Free and Equitable Market Societies
- Theme 8 Full Employment and Distributive Equality

Each theme lasts two academic hours, including questions and answers and a thirty-minute concluding discussion among all participants. At the end of the eight lectures, a PANEL will be developed to discuss the feasibility of applying the Policy of Equi-distributive Human Development in the country or context where the lecture is presented.
